

ITCHING SKINS NEED POSLAM

Demand Its Soothing, Comforting, Healing Influence.

If your skin itches and any eruption is present, do not allow it to cause you restless nights or discomfort during the performance of your daily tasks. Apply Poslam, the supreme remedy for ailing skin, which should stop itching and remove annoyance so promptly that the trouble may soon be forgotten. Continue the use of Poslam until the disorder is removed and use also, to aid the work and for the protection of the skin generally, Poslam Soap, which is medicated with Poslam and which completes a treatment effective, rational, safe, inexpensive and pleasant.

OBREGON ARRIVED TODAY

ico, Carranzistas privately favor the expedition's continued presence for a time owing to the internal crisis facing the de facto government.

Renewed reports of the increasing fecklessness of Carranza's hold on Mexico received simultaneous evidence in the depreciation of his currency and the threatened famine. An appeal to the American Red Cross and the Rockefeller foundation is a possibility.

The net result of the conference is expected to be an agreement for the expedition to remain where it is until Carranza has a chance to make good on Francisco Villa's capture and the Pacification of border territory.

General Scott and Major General Fred Houston will arrive tonight. There will probably be a ceremonial session in the Juarez custom house tomorrow, but it is not expected that the conference will get down to real business before Monday. Estimates of the duration of the conference vary from a few days to a fortnight.

While the first session will probably be in Juarez as a sop to Mexican pride the remainder of the meetings are expected to be held in El Paso. Batteries of movie operators and corps of stenographers, interpreters and secretaries are assembled for the confab. Oregon, as war minister, ranking higher than the Americans, will be allowed to decide details of the conference.

In Juarez where Villa sentiment is strong, the city will be under close guard during Obregon's presence.

Class In Animal Husbandry of O. A. C. Guests of Governor

The members of the junior class in animal husbandry of the Oregon Agricultural college, who are making a tour of the Willamette valley, called upon Governor Withycombe yesterday. There were 20 students in the party, under the direction of Professor O. M. Nelson, of the animal husbandry department of the college. An auto truck carried the party on their trip.

The governor stated that he had inaugurated this annual trip of the animal husbandry students some 12 years ago, while a member of the faculty at the college, and so had a keen personal interest in it.

After the class had viewed the state buildings and grounds, the governor accompanied the students on an inspection tour of the state institutions. After looking over the state hospital and penitentiary, including the flux work being done at the latter institutions, the class visited the cottage farm.

The class will spend about five days on this tour, during which time they will visit all the principal livestock breeders' farms and other points of interest in the central portion of the Willamette valley.

County Clerks Must Assign Numbers On Ballots to Candidates

Secretary of State Olcott today stated, in response to numerous requests by mail and phone, that it is not his duty under the law to assign the ballot numbers to the names appearing upon the official ballots. This is the duty of the county clerks of the several counties at the time they prepare the ballots for printing. The law prescribes the order in which the ballots shall be arranged according to the offices to be filled and the names of the candidates and as there is usually not the same number of candidates for the different offices in the several districts the ballot number must necessarily change to conform to the proper numbering of the names as they appear on the ballots.

Boys On Long Hike Reach Capital City

Carl List and William E. Ringler, two Portland boys, reached Salem yesterday on the first leg of a long hike from Portland to New York City by way of San Francisco. List shipped out of Portland last year on the Canadian Keweenaw, a Norwegian grain carrier, which was sunk about 30 miles off the Irish coast by the German submarine U-39. List, who speaks German, was taken on board the U-39 and kept for 11 days before he was landed in Germany. He secured his release through the American consul by proving that he was an American citizen.

SCHOONER OREGON SEIZED

British Reported to Have Taken American Lumber Carrier.

Vallejo, Cal., April 28.—The American power schooner Oregon, owned by the Crowley Launch and Tugboat company of San Francisco, has been seized by the British cruiser Rainbow in the Gulf of California, according to a rumor received at the Mare Island Navy Yard yesterday.

The Oregon sailed from San Francisco last June under charter to the German firm of Ling & Co., of Mazatlan. At that time she carried a cargo of lumber. It was understood that the vessel was to be used in the West Coast trade. Nothing is known here of her recent movements.

JAIL BROKEN AT NEWBERG

Boy Suspected of Robbery and Brother Who Attacked Marshal Escape.

Newberg, Ore., April 28.—A boy of the name of Whitlow was arrested Monday with two other boys on suspicion of breaking into a bicycle shop. Tuesday an older brother met City Marshal Keeney and began berating him for having arrested his brother. Roy Fandouer, of Sheridan, a candidate for sheriff, assisted the marshal and was bitten on the arm, while the marshal was bitten on the hand.

Whitlow was lodged in jail with his young brother and just before midnight it was discovered that both cells were empty.

TRAP SHOOTERS ORGANIZE

A meeting of the members of the Dallas Trap Shooters' club was held last Friday evening at the La Creole club parlors for the purpose of electing officers and organizing the club. Heretofore the club has been unorganized. Shooting tournaments have been held at the grounds north of town for about two months, but it was not undertaken to organize a club until a week or so ago, when it was observed that many applications had been filed for membership. The club's rules will be observed as heretofore. The membership fee is fifty cents per year. Each member will be charged one cent for each bird he shoots at.

About twenty-five members are now on the list—and more coming. The club will endeavor to secure more members for this season, and to create enthusiasm.

The officers elected are: N. L. Guy, president; Ralph Riggs, vice-president; Fred Toner, secretary and treasurer; Lou Mascott, Field captain.—Dallas Observer.

A farmer once came to our town. For hours, with mouth agape, he stood outside the hotel door. To see the fire escape.

MRS. WRIGHT DIES IN NEVADA

Word has been received here from Elko, Nevada, that Mrs. Maria L.

Wright, wife of W. P. Wright, formerly of Dallas, and now at Elko, died last week at the Boling hospital of pneumonia. She was 72 years old. She had been sick but a few days and, owing to her extreme age, fell an easy victim to the dreaded disease. She was born in Illinois in 1844, and when but eight years of age crossed the plains with her parents, coming to Washington, and later moving to Dallas. After leaving Dallas, Mr. and Mrs.

Wright and their family moved to Grants Pass, Oregon, where they lived for several years. Later they moved to Elko, Nevada. Despatches from there say that Mrs. Wright was perfectly satisfied to die—she had lived her life, raised her family and her only regret was leaving her life-long companion and husband. Mr. and Mrs. Wright will be remembered here by many old-timers.—Dallas Observer.

THE DOPE, NOT THE DOPER.

If It's Good, Take It and Don't Worry About Who Compounded It.

Under the above heading Editor M. J. Brown of the Bentley County Courier gets a great load of his mind, besides giving his readers some great truths briefly and pithily told. He says: "Quite often I hear the remark, 'Brown is a pretty good preacher but he doesn't live up to his text.' What do you care? If I lived up to all I believed in I wouldn't be in the newspaper business. I'd be playing a harp in the orchestra of the good who died young."

It isn't a question of the writer's saintliness. If you dig anything out of this sheet, worthy of following, take it down the line, and don't blame your neck looking back to see if the author of that advice is swallowing his own dose.

Good is good, and bad is bad, regardless of the source.

If a nerve-diseased boozier goes were to picture to me the hell of the life he lived and the torture of those nights which have no end, it would get under my skin fully as deep as the same picture from the pulpit, by a man who couldn't tell barrel-house poison from jockey club.

This paper has ever condemned the use of those vicious cigarettes, yet no doubt witnesses could be found who would testify that the pilot of this sheet had been caught with the goods on.

Is the advice to shun the paper things any less of value because of this?

If this paper occasionally gets a line on something that would do you good, swallow it, and don't dig up my family history to see if I took a dose first.

The truth is the goods any time, and a liar needn't think he has got to apologize for handling it.

You would talk to your boy like a Dutch Uncle against tobacco chewing, and go to the door between arguments to spit. The advice is just as good, but in this particular instance it might lose a little force.
